- Ctrl+K
- Ctrl+J
-
-
-
-

can you find me a site that will allow me to watchjesus of montreal free online without needing to sign up

One legitimate option to watch Jesus of Montreal (1989) for free without signing up is on Plex. You can stream it directly here: https://watch.plex.tv/movie/jesus-of-montreal

Plex offers a free ad-supported section where many movies are available to watch instantly on most devices (web browser, app, smart TV, etc.) with no account required—just click play. Availability can vary by region, so check the link to confirm.

Other free ad-supported platforms like Cineverse may also have it in some areas (search for it on their site/app), but Plex appears to be the most straightforward no-sign-up option right now.

Note: Kanopy is another free streaming source, but it requires a library card login (no cost if your public library or university participates). Avoid unofficial/pirate sites, as they can be unsafe or illegal.

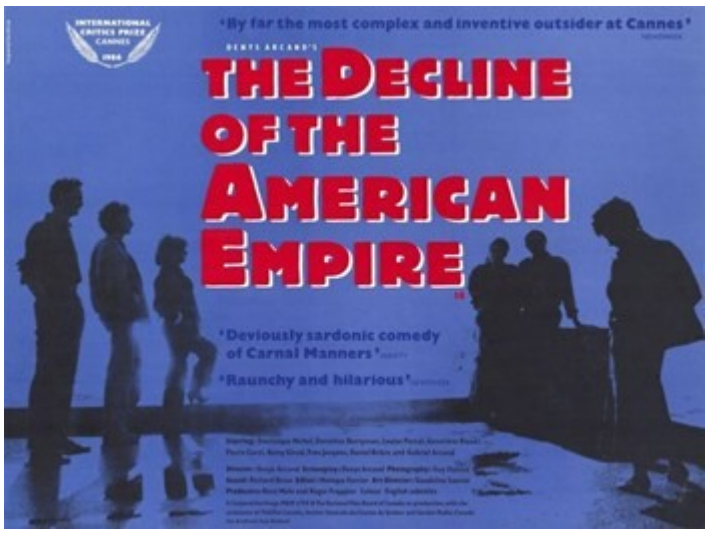
60 sources

Denys Arcand's other films

Denys Arcand is a renowned Quebecois filmmaker known for his sharp, intellectual satires on society, sexuality, religion, and human relationships. His most acclaimed works form a loose trilogy often referred to as the "American Empire" series, with Jesus of Montreal (1989) standing as another international highlight.

Here are some of his notable feature films (excluding documentaries and early shorts):

- The Decline of the American Empire (1986) A witty ensemble comedy about intellectuals discussing sex and relationships. It earned an Oscar nomination for Best Foreign Language Film and multiple awards at Cannes and the Genies.



'By far the most complex and inventive outsider at Cannes'
THE DECLINE OF THE AMERICAN EMPIRE
'Deviously sardonic comedy of Carnal Manners'
'Raunchy and hilarious'

posterazzi.com

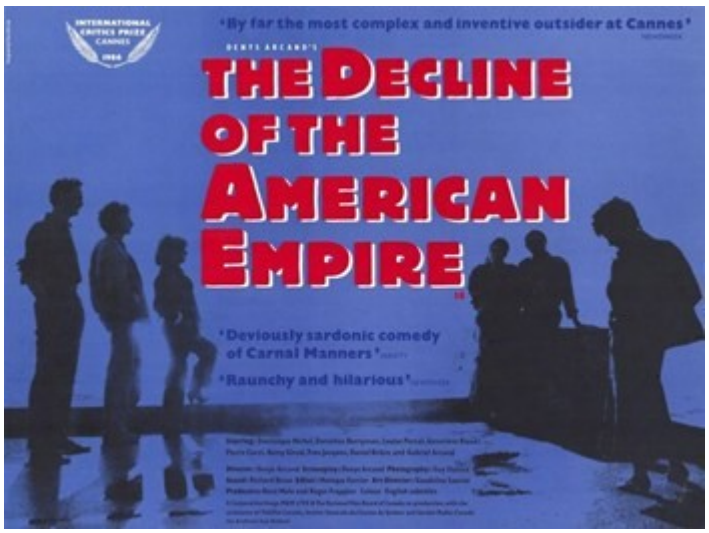
Decline of the American Empire Movie Poster (17 x 11) - Item # MOV210146

- The Barbarian Invasions (2003) A sequel to The Decline, following the same characters years later as they confront mortality and family. It won the Academy Award for Best Foreign Language Film, plus Cannes and César awards.

posterazzi.com

The Barbarian Invasions Movie Poster (17 x 11) - Item # MOV200960

- The Fall of the American Empire (2018) A satirical crime thriller exploring money, greed, and morality in modern society—loosely connected thematically to the earlier "Empire" films.



'By far the most complex and inventive outsider at Cannes'
DENYS ARCAND'S
THE DECLINE OF THE AMERICAN EMPIRE
'Deviously sardonic comedy of Carnal Manners'
'Raunchy and hilarious'

posterazzi.com
Decline of the American Empire Movie Poster (17 x 11) - Item # MOV210146

Other key films include:

- Dirty Money (1972) – Early crime drama.
- Réjeanne Padovani (1973) – Political satire.
- Gina (1975) – Drama about exploitation.
- Love & Human Remains (1993) – English-language film about urban relationships and AIDS fears.
- Stardom (2000) – Satire on celebrity culture.
- Days of Darkness (2007) – Dark comedy-fantasy.
- An Eye for Beauty (2014) – Drama about infidelity.
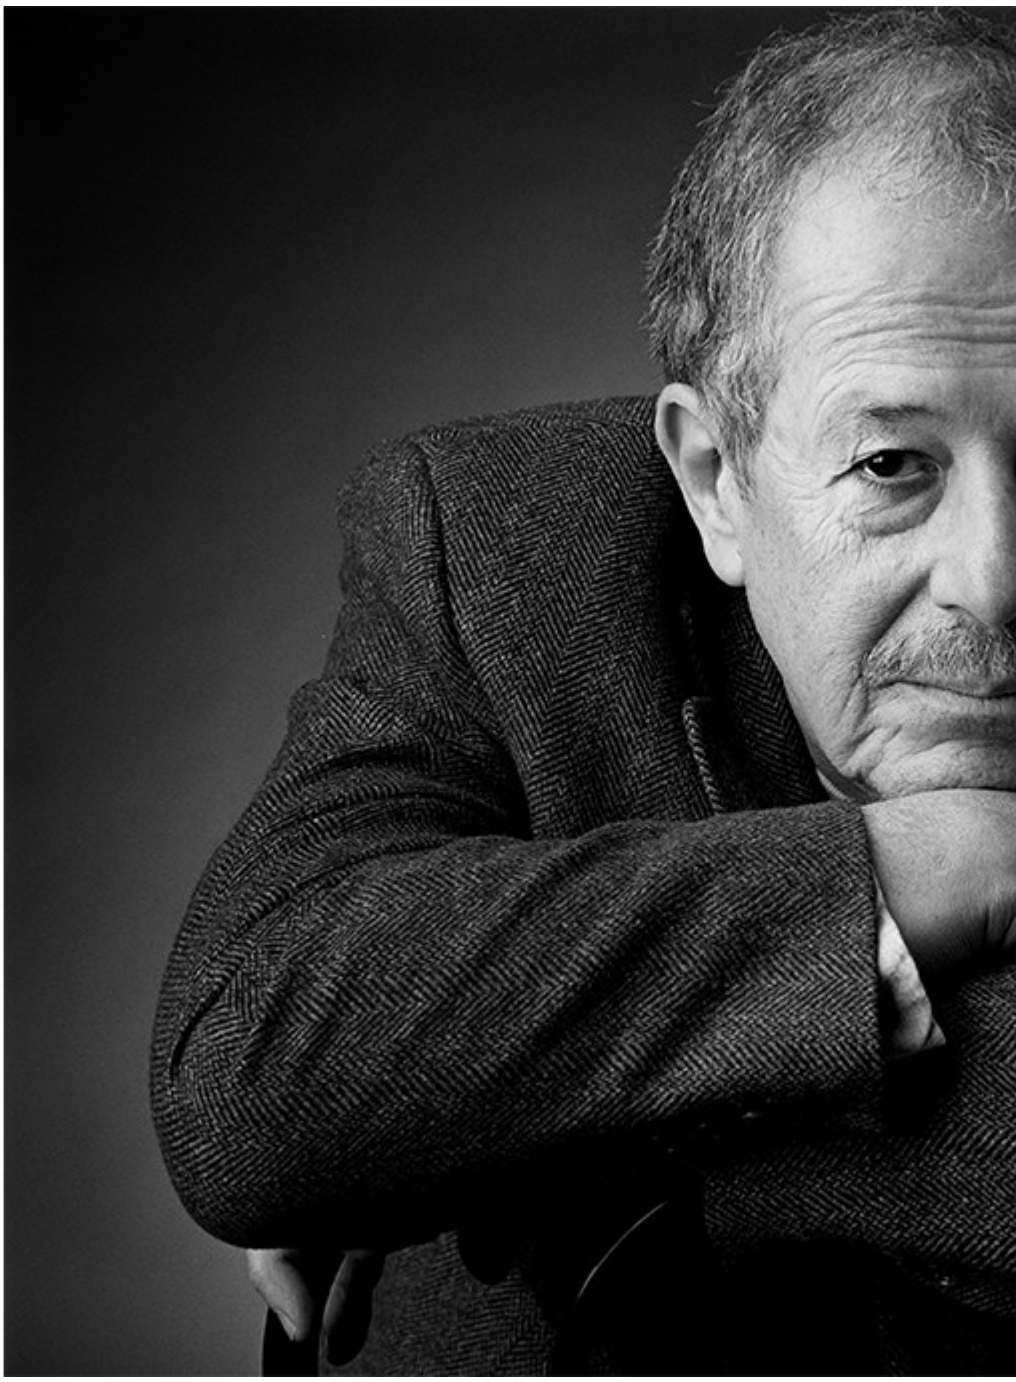
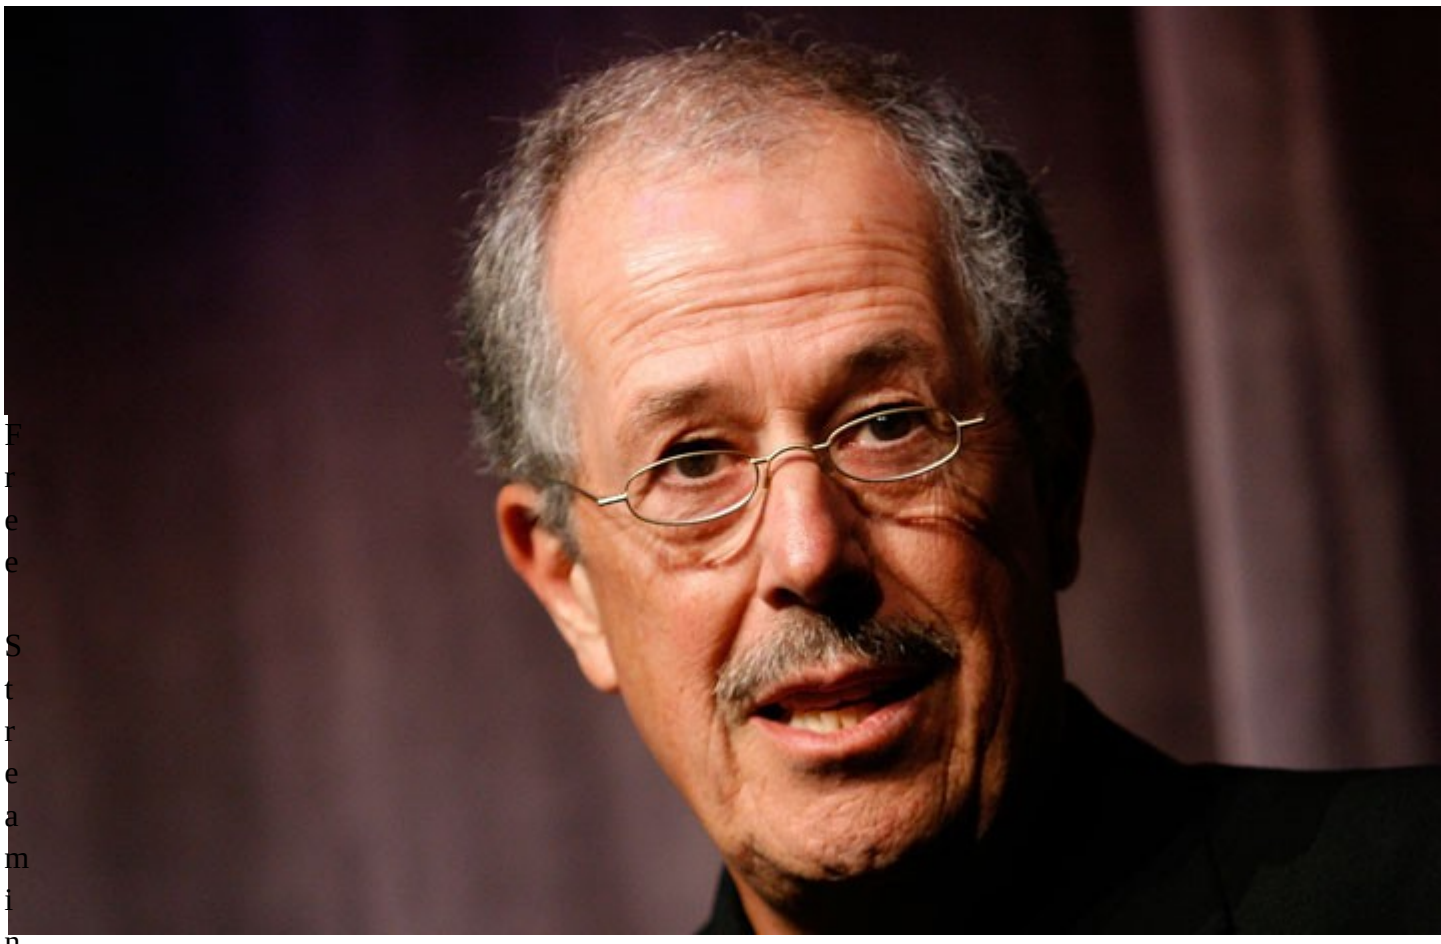
- Testament (2023) – His most recent, a social comedy set in contemporary Quebec.

Arcand's films often blend humor, critique, and personal reflection, drawing from Quebec's cultural shifts.



canadapost-postescanada.ca



globalnews.ca

If you're looking for streaming options like with Jesus of Montreal, many are available on platforms such as Criterion Channel, Kanopy (with library access), or Plex—availability varies by region.

30 sources

Upgrade to SuperGrok